Parent Plus Loan Conditions

- The U.S. Department of Education lends money for the Federal Direct PLUS Loans. These loans are for parents to help pay for their child's education. Only the parent's name is on the loan, and they're responsible for paying it back, not the student. The parent must be the biological or adoptive parent, or sometimes a stepparent. If it's a stepparent, their information needs to be on the FAFSA form. The parent's credit is checked before they get the loan, and they'll be told in writing if they're approved. If there are any questions or problems with their credit, they can call 1-800-557-7394 for help.
- The student has to be a dependent and enrolled at least half-time, taking six or more eligible credits for an approved program and meeting Satisfactory Academic Progress standards.
- Both the parent and the student must be U.S. citizens or eligible noncitizens. They can't owe money on any federal education grants or loans, and they can't be behind on paying back any federal loans. They also need to meet the requirements for Federal Student Aid programs.
- The money from the PLUS loan is only for the student's education at Green River College. The parent gives the college permission to use the loan money to pay for the student's tuition and fees.
- The parent can cancel part or all of the loan by telling Green River College in writing within 14 days after getting a notice about the loan or by the first day of the school's payment period, whichever comes later.

I certify that the information I have provided on this form is complete and accurate to the best of my knowledge, and that I understand and agree to the Parent Plus Loan Conditions.
